

My Nature Notes

Date: Sept. 19 th 2014	Time: 8:20
Location: The Dock, Mud Lake	Temperature: 2°C
Weather Conditions: Chilly and windy water
Phase of the Moon: Third Quarter 	Time of Sunrise: 6:46 Time of Sunset: 7:06
Purpose of Today's Walk: Examining habitats
Observations: Today at Mud Lake it was very chilly. We saw slugs, bugs and spiders underneath a log. We saw a inch worm crawling on the log and we saw a Great Blue Heron sitting on a tree, eating fishes. Also at the end Mohamed and I saw a huge Frog jumping in the bushes.

Please continue on back.

Why do some bugs
live under logs?
